

3 December 2019

SENT TO LSU AGCENTER/LOUISIANA FOREST PRODUCTS DEVELOPMENT CENTER - FOREST SECTOR / FORESTY PRODUCTS INTEREST GROUP

Trade War Hurting Lumber Industry in Northeast and throughout the U.S.

The ongoing trade war with countries whose economy represent over half the world economy (read China and the EU among others) is really putting a hurting on the U.S. lumber industry - particularly the hardwood sector that does a lot of exporting of beautiful U.S. hardwood lumber.

This brand new TIME MAGAZINE article really tells the story.

Richard P. Vlosky, Ph.D.

Director, Louisiana Forest Products Development Center

Crosby Land & Resources Endowed Professor of Forest Sector Business Development

Room 227, School of Renewable Natural Resources

Louisiana State University, Baton Rouge, LA 70803

Phone (office): (225) 578-4527; Fax: (225) 578-4251; Mobile Phone: (225) 223-1931

Web Site: www.LFPDC.lsu.edu

